

Introduction to Training in Psychodrama

Training Programme

2020

Psychodrama Australia

AANZPA Inc.

2020 Full-Year Psychodrama Core Learning – Level 1 – Perth Campus

Overview

Psychodrama is a general term that includes the philosophy, theory, and methods of Dr JL Moreno (1898-1974). Training in psychodrama, which is also referred to as action methods, is conducted in groups in which participants develop group-work leadership and the value of personal and professional development in a supportive group setting. Each participant brings to the training group a wide range of prior educational and life experiences. We gain from each other as we proceed throughout the course.

This full-year course covers the key aspects that are the basis of psychodrama methods. These include knowledge and skills in psychodrama, sociodrama, sociometry and role training. The process of training will enable integration of the theory and practice of the psychodramatic method into your professional practice.

The course includes the essentials of the theory and practice of psychodrama and is aimed at Level 1 trainees.

Who is the Course for?

This full-year course is designed for people who work with people as counsellors, coaches, organisational consultants, team leaders, community group leaders, managers, teachers or health professionals. Psychodrama training is a postgraduate course and is open to those with a degree, diploma or workplace equivalence in a relevant field. We welcome interested newcomers. To be eligible for the course you must have had a minimum of 12 hours experiential work in psychodrama and have an initial interview with the trainer of the Campus.

Training Standards.

This training is designed in accordance with the Training & Standards Manual as set out by Australian & Aotearoa New Zealand Psychodrama Association Inc. (AANZPA Inc.) Board of Examiners Training hours are accredited with Psychodrama Australia Perth Campus towards accreditation as a Certified Psychodramatist.

For further information about psychodrama and training please visit frequently asked questions (FAQs) at www.psychodramaaustralia.edu.au

The Learning Process

Training is taught through supervised experiential learning processes, supported by reading and writing assignments. The experiential nature and reflective practice of the training will develop your thinking, appropriate new professional practice approaches and expand your creative responses in personal expression and relationships. The training involves personal development as well as skills development. Training involves teaching, supervised practice in action, shared learning and group interaction.
